

join the uk's leading independent consultant network compete for, win and manage business

○ web portals

web enable your business

An easy, low cost and professional way to access the advantages of web based technology. An rc.com portal provides you with a great looking website and the secure IT infrastructure to communicate, share and archive information – internally, and with clients and suppliers.

- Use the power of our network and be found on the web
- Feature rich websites to promote your business
- Extranet to securely share information with clients and suppliers
- Intranet providing the privacy and security for internal use

○ pm central improve project management

As projects become more complex, the management tools used are increasingly important. Keep your clients satisfied and make the managing and reporting of projects easier with the rc.com tool, pm central.

- Easy to use, powerful project management tools
- View project information, in one place, over the internet
- Current plans, status reports and document archive for clients
- Manage multiple projects in one place
- Make collaboration with other consultants easier.
- Document a project to show others what you can do
- Share your opinions

promote yourself and your company

○ right consultant directory

the first place to look for a trusted consultant

Make sure you're listed.

free directory listings for consultants

Add an informative listing for free

- Identify area's of expertise
- Recent projects and track history
- Full contact details

○ articles

expertise you can use

Articles written from experience, which you can put in to practice!

- Submit to gain visibility and demonstrate your expertise
- Best-in-class approaches to solving problems
- Valuable insights and other perspectives stay connected

○ forums

opinions that count

Qualified opinions from people in the know! Use the rc.com forum to find out what's happening in your industry and be part of a vibrant community. Need help – ask the community – somebody out there will have an answer.

- Be informed
- Develop your network and build your brand
- Find people you want to work with ○ blogs

one in a million

Standing out from the crowd is always difficult, but not with an rc.com blog. So show people who you really are, what you can do for them and how you work. You never know, they may like what they see. There's lot's of ways to use your blog:

- Promote yourself and your company
- Document a project to show others what you can do
- Share your opinions